

How Can I Avoid Weight Gain When I Stop Smoking?

It's very important to quit smoking, even if you gain a few pounds. The good news is that the average weight gain after quitting is about 10 pounds. And even if you do gain a few pounds, that's not as important as saving your life. When people gain weight, it's usually because they start to eat more once they quit smoking. If you watch what you eat and stay physically active, you may not gain at all!

What should I eat?

- Pick a variety of fruits and vegetables.
- Select whole-grain cereals, pastas and breads.
- Try unsalted pretzels, air-popped popcorn or nuts for a snack.
- Read Nutrition Facts labels and choose healthful foods low in sodium, saturated fat, trans fats and added sugars.
- Cut back on alcohol and drinks with added sugars such as soft drinks, fruit drinks and sweetened tea.
- Drink lots of water!

How can physical activity help?

- It releases stress and calms you.
- It can help control your appetite.
- It helps keep your mind off smoking.
- It may help control cravings and the urge to smoke or use tobacco.
- It burns calories and can help you reach and maintain a healthy weight.
- It can improve your mood.

What are good activities to help keep weight off?

Becoming more active can help you lose or maintain your weight. Try any of the following.

- Walk briskly in your neighborhood or at indoor shopping malls.
- Do gardening or yard work.
- Take the stairs instead of escalators and elevators.
- Park farther from stores and walk.
- Take a dance class.
- Start jogging.
- Ride a bicycle.

The key is to sit less and move more. Aim for at least 150 minutes of moderate-intensity aerobic activity (such as brisk walking) or 75 minutes of vigorous-intensity aerobic activity a week, or a combination of the two. Include moderate- to high-intensity muscle-strengthening activity at least two days a week for more health benefits.

How Can I Avoid Weight Gain When I Stop Smoking?

What can I do instead of smoking?

- Munch on carrots, apples and celery.
- Chew sugarless gum.
- Brush your teeth often to keep a fresh taste in your mouth.
- Keep your hands busy — garden, knit, wash the dishes, do crossword puzzles or cook.
- Try a new sport, such as pickleball, or take an exercise class.
- Play with a pencil or stress ball.

What else can I do?

- Try relaxation techniques such as deep breathing or meditation.
- Ask family and friends to support you in quitting.
- Write down why you're quitting. Reread your reasons often.
- Spend time with other nonsmokers.
- Go where there's no smoking, such as stores, movies, churches and libraries.
- Reward yourself every day or week that you stay a nonsmoker. Don't use food as a reward. Treat yourself to a movie or an activity with friends.
- Talk with your health care professional. Counseling and medications might help you stop smoking and stay a nonsmoker.
